

I exhort the FCC to turn down any proposal that would loosen the existing policies regarding indecency, expletives and nudity. It matters not how quickly these images and vocabulary go by on the screen, they are not appropriate for the eyes of children or adults who are concerned about the about the degrading nature of such scenes. I further request that the FCC would more carefully monitor the rating that companies put on their shows so that families are no longer surprised by indecent content.